The Monthly Messenger

Our Savior's Lutheran Church

West Bend, WI

Dear Friends,

Once again, kids in church have taught me a valuable lesson about our faith. It came on the Sunday of the Sunday School Christmas Pageant, which I always consider and announce to be the best sermon of the year. They came through for us, too –sharing the scriptures which tell of Christ's birth, taking us to the overbooked inn at Bethlehem, and finally to the stable where God came into the world. The animals sang the Good News to us and so did the Magi. It was perfect, just as we all knew it would be. The Gospel had been proclaimed to us.

It was after the 10:15 that day when I got another spectacular dose of the Gospel. The narthex was jam packed with grown-ups and kids. Magi and angels were racing around and laughing. Shepherds giggled as they dodged through the grown-ups to a table loaded with cookies. It's not just that the narthex was physically full, it was also filled with the sounds of joy and love. I just stood still and soaked it in.

These young ones had just told us about the joy and love which Christ brought into our world; now here they were expressing the love and joy of Christ outside the sanctuary and into the world, so to speak.

The sounds that filled the Narthex that morning were joy, excitement, hope. Those kids had gone beyond telling the story of Christ, to living out his love in real time and place. What could we adults do but soak it up and join in with them?

Now, some may conclude that it was all that sugar from cookies and lemonade that had those kids dashing and bouncing around the place. I'll cling to the hope that it was the joy of the Lord that we were all experiencing, whether we knew it or not.

See you in church,

Thank you to all who have donated important basic supplies.

Thank you to all who have provided for the babies and toddlers.

Thank you to all who have given toys and gifts so the children could have Christmas joy.

Thank you to all who pray for the women, their families and the staff of Family Promise who guide and counsel them.

Thank you to the anonymous donor who prepared the baby bath tub abundantly filled with a wide variety of newborn essentials.

The needs continue so your support is greatly appreciated. Please refer to previous lists of family items requested and the child and baby needs. Please share the list with friends and family to increase donations and awareness of the work of Family Promise in Washington County.

Kids Conversation Starters

Sometimes engaging your kids in a meaningful conversation seems impossible.

I remember asking my kids the same questions parents have asked their kids for years "What happened in school today? And I'd get the same answers kids have been giving their parents for years; a shoulder shrug as they mumble "Nothing." As a Grandma, I didn't want to make the same mistakes with my grands. So I did a little research to help on the internet to find a few more tools to use to engage them in conversation that helps me get to know their thoughts and feelings better.

Using some of these questions I've even had texting conversations with my oldest granddaughter. Sometimes my attempts fall short but other times I hit the jackpot and a natural conversation flows. I wanted to share some of the conversation starters I've used. Remember don't judge your child's answers just listen and reflect.

And most importantly share your answers too.

Blessings, Sherie

Tell me about the best thing that happened in your day.

Tell me something kind that you did for someone today?

How many stars would you give your lunch today?

Did you get a chance to help anyone today? How did you help?

Did anyone help you today?

Is there anything you wish you had done differently today?

Are you feeling sorry about anything that happened today?

What is one thing you are grateful for today?

How do you make yourself feel better when you feel frustrated or angry at school?

What about bored, tired or excited?

How can I pray for you today?

What was your favorite part of the Bible story you heard today? Why?

If the librarian said you could keep one book forever, which one would you choose?

How would you change the world if you could?

Who is your best friend and why?
